7. Annual Fees

8. Overlimit

In case of any transaction resulting in the limit being exceeded may be rejected and may incur fees as per schedule of charges

9. Card under lien

In case corporate opts for credit card against fixed deposit, a lien (FD collateral) of 120% will be kept. This would cover all transactions and fees. In case of default of payment, bank reserves the right to break the FD and settle the card outstanding & fees as per schedule of charges. The customer is liable to pay for any remaining outstanding post such closure.

10. Interest / Profit Calculation rates on credit balances

All purchase transactions are free of interest from the transaction date of each transaction until the statement date and subsequently to the payment due date for that billing cycle.

If there is any outstanding balance of unpaid transactions following the payment due date, then interest will be charged on the daily closing balance from the date of each transaction. This will appear in the next statement. Interest rate as per schedule of fees & charges

Interest is charged on the cash advance from the date of cash advance to the date the cash advance has been settled in full. Interest rate & fees as per schedule of fees

Interest calculation example: Interest Amount = Outstanding Balance * (Annual Interest Rate / Interest Year Base) * Period.

(Period is the number of days that have elapsed in the cycle for which the outstanding balance remains to be paid)

Example:

Assumption is first transaction is done on the 2nd of the month. Transaction amount of 2,000 and min paid of AED 100 on the 2nd of month 2. Interest rate on retail purchases is 3% per month. Thus, deferred interest of month 1 of 30 days + outstanding balance of month 2 (2,000 for 1 day & 1,900 for 29 days in month 2).

$\{2,000 * (36\% / 360) * 30 \text{ days} = \text{AED } 60\} + \{2,000 * (36\% / 360) * 1 \text{ day} + 1,900 * (36\% / 360) * 29 \text{ days} = 57.1\} = \text{AED } 117.10$ per month

Warning: In case the customer pays the minimum due, interest is charged on the daily closing balance from the date of each transaction
